

CAMPUS UPDATE

As the leaves begin to change around campus, we hope that your students are having a great fall semester at NKU. Midterms are quickly approaching and students should have a better understanding about any support services they may need to be successful. If your student finds a class to be particularly challenging, there are several resources they can use to get help.

1. Encourage your student to contact the course professor during office hours. Office hours are listed on the course syllabus. The professor may be able to suggest different ways to study or learn the information. Making a connection with the professor can also show the professor that the student is interested in learning and achieving success in the course.
2. Utilize Learning PLUS to access tutoring, the Writing Center and supplemental instruction for free!
3. Make an appointment with University Connect & Persist (UCAP). Your student can meet with a member of the UCAP team to discuss academic success, navigating finances, and more.

SPRING ADVISING APPOINTMENTS

It's hard to believe that the opportunity to register for Spring 2021 courses is just around the corner. To prepare, encourage your students to:

1. Log into myNKU and check their holds status. Your student will want to take action to get any holds removed so that they will be able to register for classes.
2. Check their registration date. This will help your student determine the first date they will be eligible to register for classes.
3. Schedule an advising appointment. Students need to meet with an advisor prior to registering, and advising times can fill up quickly!

CAREER SERVICES AVAILABLE FOR ALL STUDENTS

NKU is currently offering a variety of virtual career fairs. Students can participate to learn more about internships and job opportunities. If your student is not currently job-seeking, now is still a great time to reach out to Career Services to learn how to navigate the job search process. Encouraging a first year student to begin building a resume now will help them establish a framework that they can continue to build upon throughout their time at NKU.
